5,443,999

have seen the Redskins perform in 34 different cities in the U. S. The Redskins have drawn record pro football crowds in Los Angeles, New York, Detroit, Denver, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Birmingham, Memphis, and, of course, Washington.

Charity Events:

In games sponsored by leading newspapers and civic organizations, the Redskins have raised more than $1,000,000 for various charities. The first four Redskins-Rams games in Los Angeles, sponsored by The Times, have netted about $350,000 and a series of games in Baltimore raised about $125,000 for boys' clubs activities. During the war, two Redskins games collected $122,369 for service relief funds. Another $150,000 has been raised in Denver, Birmingham and Memphis.

Browns, Colts, '49ers Join NFL

PROFESSIONAL football this season embarks upon a new and brighter era. Since the close of the 1949 campaign, the 31-year-old National Football League has grown bigger and better. The All-America Football Conference has become defunct and three of its teams have been admitted to the NFL.

These three teams are:

THE CLEVELAND BROWNS, champions of the All-America 'for all four years of its existence;

THE SAN FRANCISCO FORTY-NINERS, runners-up to the Browns every season; and

THE BALTIMORE COLTS, surviving the All-America's demise by popular demand of civic-minded citizens.

In growing from 10 to 13 teams, it was necessary to reorganize the NFL. As professional football followers realize, the National League actually has been two leagues—the East and the West—since 1933. That was the year that the 10 teams were divided into geographical divisions with the winner of each circuit meeting in a playoff to decide the world championship.

A similar pattern is being followed this season. There are still two leagues. But instead of being known as "divisions," they are now "conferences"—the collegiate world's traditional title for football leagues.

These two conferences are known as the American Conference and the National Conference. The teams are arrayed as follows:

American Conference

Philadelphia Eagles

Cleveland Browns

Chicago Cardinals

New York Giants

Pittsburgh Steelers

The Redskins

National Conference

Chicago Bears

Green Bay Packers

Los Angeles Rams

Detroit Lions

New York Yanks

Baltimore Colts

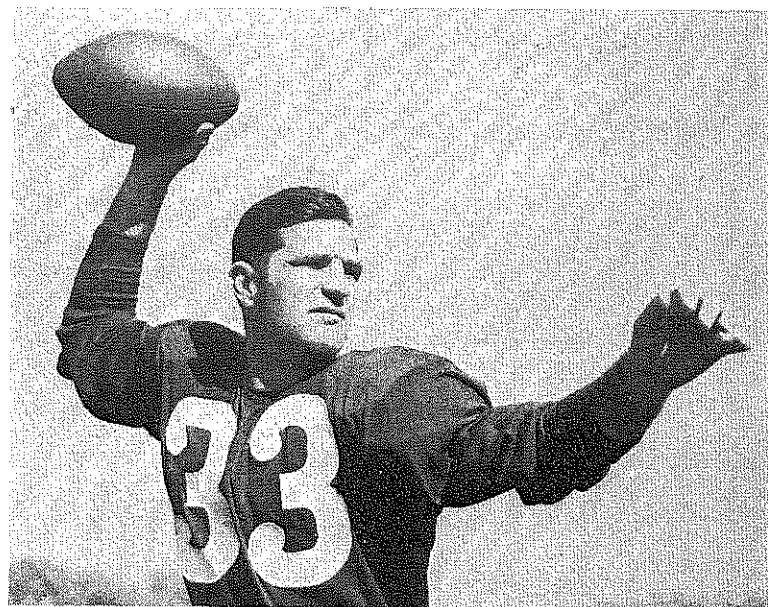

San Francisco Forty-Niners

Each team will play 12 league games. Ten of these games will be played against teams in its own conference on a home-and-home basis. Two of the games will be played against teams of the other conference—one at home and one away.

Because there is an odd number of teams, departures from this scheduling were necessary. The Baltimore Colts, for instance, will play each of the other teams one game with two exceptions to satisfy demands of fans in Chicago, Baltimore and Washington. The Colts gave up their game with the Bears and the Redskins gave up one of theirs with the Cardinals. This made it possible for the popular 30-year-old home-and-home series between the Cardinals and Bears to be continued and for an annual home-and-home series between the Colts and Redskins to be instituted.

As was the case under the previous East-vs.-West arrangements, the champions of the American and National Conferences will meet in a playoff game to decide the world football championship.

Don't It Beat the Band? Not the Redskins Band!

SOMETIMES, the Redskins football team doesn't win . . . but, after all these years and against all sorts of competition, the Redskins Marching Band remains undefeated!

It all started, you might say, as an ad lib. Just before the second game of the 1937 season—first year of the Redskins' existence, a milk company employees' band asked permission to parade and play at home games. Permission was granted . . . and, for the rest of the season, these musical milkmen played to their hearts' content and to the fans' delight.

Before the start of the next season (Aug. 9, 1938), these same musicians met with others and the Redskins Marching Band was officially organized. Less than two weeks later, the now familiar marching song, "Hail to the Redskins!", with lyrics by Screen Star Corinne Griffith and music by Maestro Barnee Breeskin, was introduced over coast-to-coast radio . . . and the band played on.

It has been playing ever since. It has played and drawn plaudits alongside Fred Waring, Paul Whiteman, and the Philharmonic in the Philadelphia Inquirer's Music Festival. It has represented Washington in the big annual Lions' Club parade in New York. It has marched up Broadway at the head of 15,000 fans. And it has entertained at games in Cleveland, Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Baltimore, Norfolk and Pittsburgh.

It marches at the start and finish of each game, but no longer is it just a marching band. It now is an integral part of the halftime shows—those smartly-paced presentations that have featured some of the biggest names in show business.

The band is composed of volunteers of all sizes and ages—printers, plumbers, sheet metal workers; mechanics, painters, electrical engineers; law and medical students, salesmen, bookbinders; and, oh yes, of course, even musicians.

The organization is military-like. At the head is Band Director Richard H. Viancour, former Navy bandleader. Each marching line is a unit under direct command of a Chief, who is responsible for his unit's musical and marching ability, and discipline. The band's own arranger carefully times his scores to 90 seconds for time-outs. The band's own librarian has on file some 200 arrangements.

Wardrobe men, who care for the $25,000 worth of costumes, know their business so well that the bandmen can file through one end of a box car in street clothes and out the other end in Indian get-up—all within 25 minutes!

The band's drum majors have diagrams of scores of maneuvers, man-by-man, and step-by-step, and, in one rehearsal, can whip the band into any design from a shamrock to a Christmas tree.

New Redskins Head Coach is T-Formation Veteran

Herman Ball, who was appointed head coach of the Redskins in mid-season last year, is one of the oldest (in point of service) T-formation coaches. The 40-year-old West Virginian has been teaching the T for a full decade—several years before the Eagles' Greasy Neale, Notre Dame's Frank Leahy, West Point's Earl Blaik and other big-name coaches went over to the lightning offense.

Ironically, Ball saw the light on the dark day that the Redskins were thumped by the Bears, 73-0, in the 1940 World Championship Game. Ball came down from Cumberland, Md., where he was coaching at Allegany High School, and viewed that memorable massacre from an end zone seat.

The next day he went back to the hills of Cumberland, threw away his double-wing system, wiped the blackboards clean and hied himself to Clark Shaughnessy's T-formation coaching clinic at Spirit Lake, Iowa.

Ball studied the system from A to T, and then to Z, and back to Cumberland he went to introduce this new and mysterious offense to his squad. It all took considerable courage. But his daring and his teaching were effective. Allegany's youthful gridders caught on . . . and caught fire . . . and roared through two undefeated seasons.

Ball moved to the University of Maryland in July, 1943, as assistant coach to Dr. Clarence W. (Doc) Spears. At Maryland, Ball survived three coaching upheavals, remaining as assistant through the terms of Spears ('43-'44), Paul Bryant ('45) and Clark Shaughnessy ('46).

While still at Maryland, Ball became associated with the Redskins on a part-time basis, serving as game scout in '44 and '45. In '46, he was hired as a full-time assistant and named chief scout.

Early last season, after the Redskins first two league games, Ball was promoted from chief scout to line coach. Five games later, he was named head coach to succeed Vice Admiral John E. Whelchel, USN (Ret.), whose contract was cancelled by mutual agreement.

Like two other National League coaches, Greasy Neale of the Eagles and Joe Stydahar of the Rams, Ball was born in West Virginia—in the little college town of Elkins, where his 76-year-old mother, Dora, still lives. Ball's father, Sam, was a farmer. The new Redskins coach has four brothers—Loren, Hobart, Odbert and Monzel—and one sister, Blanche. All still live in West Virginia.

Ball attended Davis-Elkins College, where he was running guard on the team that led the entire nation in scoring in 1933.

Upon graduation, he coached for one season at Ridgeley, W. Va., High, then moved to Allegany High in Cumberland, Md., for the '36 season. In seven seasons at Allegany, Ball produced numerous boys who starred at various colleges—among them Jim Gaffney of Tennessee and Tommy Mont of Maryland who became Redskins.

Ball is married to the former Edna Staniforth of Cumberland, daughter of a Methodist minister. He has one son.

The Ball home is in Hyattsville, Md., a suburb of Washington.

Cowboys and Indians?

Naw—Just Indians!

Have you got a little halfback in your home?

Or a tackle?

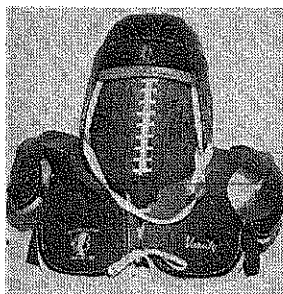

Youngsters now can dress up just like their Redskins heroes on the day of the big game.

Ideal birthday and Christmas gifts for your son, or your nephew, or your favorite girl's favorite little brother include:

- A complete football outfit, consisting of a set of honest-to-goodness, suspension shoulder-pads, headgear and regulation size-and-weight football, all of them bearing the official Redskins insignia.
- The Redskins sweatshirt and jersey in the official Redskins colors of Burgundy and Gold—warm and durable and just the thing for play or school.
- Miniature souvenir footballs, all white, and autographed by all the Redskins stars.
- The official Redskins Crest, made of regulation U. S. Army shield twill in the official Redskins colors of Burgundy and Gold. Ideal for sewing on sweatshirts or jerseys or jackets.

Did we say ideal gifts for boys? . . . Well, don't you think for one moment that the girls won't go for that Redskins Crest . . . or the jersey . . . or the autographed ball.

All of these ideal gift suggestions are reasonably priced. For further information, inquire at the Redskins Office, 739 Ninth St. N.W., Washington, D. C., or phone DIstrict 6140.

Voice of the Redskins

A record-breaking association continues its precedent-shattering radio "run" this year as Harry Wismer, the nation's leading sportscaster, once again mans the mike for all Redskins games.

Harry Wismer

For the eighth consecutive season, Wismer will bring Redskins fans on-the-scene, play-by-play accounts of all home and road games on behalf of the American Oil Co., makers of Amoco Products.

The Wismer-Amoco-Redskins combination thus continues to set an all-time high for the broadcasting industry. No other sportscaster of this magnitude has enjoyed such consistency of performance . . . indeed, rarely, if ever, in all radio has the same sponsor and the same announcer been identified with the same show for such a stretch of years.

Between Redskins games, Wismer is the sports editor of the American Broadcasting System. Throughout the year, he can be heard "covering" most of the top sports events. He airs some 30 football games every season, including the Sugar Bowl and World's Professional Championship; the National tennis singles and doubles; the National Open and PGA; Penn Relays; and numerous other sports spectacles.

The athletic, dynamic Wismer was born in Port Huron, Mich. He won eight letters in football, baseball, basketball, track and tennis at St. John's Military Academy and was headed for a big collegiate career at the University of Florida. But, as a freshman, he broke a leg.

Transferring to Michigan State, the sidelined athlete, yearning to keep close to sports, aired Spartans' sports over the college radio station. On Sundays, he handled the public address system for the Detroit Lions.

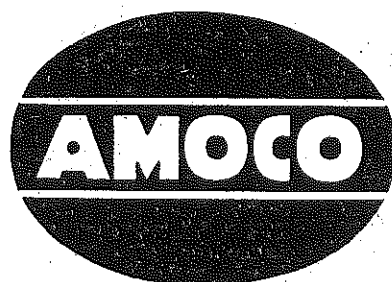

One day a heavy fog shrouded the field and Wismer moved from his PA booth to the sidelines and "broadcast" a radio-like description to the fog-blinded fans in the stands. It was so good, he was hired to air the Lions' games the following season . . . and he was on his way.

Numerous honors have been heaped upon him. Six times he has won the Sporting News Award as the Nation's No. 1 sports commentator, and he won the Washington Touchdown Club's trophy for the most outstanding sportscaster for all four years it was offered.

"The Whiz," as he is known from coast to coast, is married, has two children and lives in Ypsilanti, Mich.
