THE COACHING STAFF

THE HEAD COACH

Otto E. Graham, Jr., Northwestern University '44

Second Year.

Became Head Coach of the Redskins, January 25, 1966.

Otto E. Graham, Jr., was born in Waukegan, Illinois on December 6, 1921. His father was the music and band leader at the Waukegan high school for 40 years.

Known more as a basketball player than a grid star in his Waukegan high school, Graham's football potential was not fully realized until after he had enrolled at Northwestern University on a basketball scholarship, and Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf put him in the backfield of N.U.'s eleven. There he became an All-American performer. In 1943, he was selected to receive the Chicago Tribune Trophy as the most valuable player in the Western Conference. His biggest day that season came against Michigan when he completed 20 out of 29 passes.

He twice played with the College All-Stars, each time the collegians whipped their professional adversaries. In 1943, he helped the Stars whip Washington, 27-7, as he ran 95 yards for a touchdown—the longest run ever made in the All-Star classic. Three years later, Graham passed for a touchdown as the Stars defeated the Los Angeles Rams, 16-0. In 1951, he played in the All-Star classic for the third time, but with the pros, where he led the Cleveland Browns to a 33-0 win over the collegians.

Graham is the only college athlete ever to make All-American in two sports the same year—football and basketball. He was on the All-American football team of 1943 and named to the basketball team of the 1943-44 season. That was a team which included George Mikan, one of the greats of pro basketball.

Following his graduation in 1944 with a Bachelor of Arts degree from Northwestern, where he majored in music and education, he became a naval air cadet until the end of World War II. It was during this period, while he was stationed at Chapel Hill, N.C., that he first became familiar with the "T" formation.

While others have since followed suit, Graham was the first to play professionally in two sports. He was quarterback for the Cleveland Browns and a forward for the Rochester Royals (now the Cincinnati Royals) in the NBA.

Graham was the first player signed by Coach Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns when he undertook the job of organizing his first professional football team. Though he was planning his offense and knew Graham had only a smattering of experience as a "T" quarterback, Brown picked him because of his exceptional ability to throw the ball. Brown was sure Graham had all the requirements to become a good man at the "T" position, and the records bear out his claim.

In his years with the Browns, Graham directed the high-powered offense that led the team to 94 victories against only 15 defeats and 3 ties, including 10 straight championships and playoff games. His passes were directly responsible for one-third of the 2,990 points the Browns scored. Of his 2,201 attempted passes, he completed 1,224, good for 19,771 yards and 148 touchdowns.

Retiring from his professional football career after the 1955 season, Graham was soon called to coach the College All-Stars in their annual clash with the pros.

He was named to the College Hall of Fame in 1959, and in 1965 was added to the Pro Hall of Fame.

Aside from football, Graham was, at one time, a talented musician, playing the piano, violin, cornet and French horn. He is a fine tennis player, shoots a low 70 golf game, and is a fine swimmer.

While attending Northwestern University, he met his wife, the former Beverly

Jean Collinge of Wabash, Indiana. They have two sons, Duey, born March 13, 1947, and David, born April 15, 1951, and a daughter, Sandy, born September 6, 1948.

He has three brothers, Eugene, recently retired after twenty years in the U.S. Marine Band in Washington, D.C.; Victor, an insurance salesman in the Chicago area; and Richard, who is an insurance salesman in Waukegan.

On February 27, 1959, Graham received his commission as a Commander in the Coast Guard Reserve, and, at that time, he was assigned the position of head football coach and director of athletics at the Coast Guard Academy in New London, Connecticut. On November 14, 1963, he was permanently appointed to the commissioned teaching staff at the academy, and was promoted to the rank of Captain on April 3, 1965.

At the Academy, Graham made a marked improvement in the cadet's gridiron record, and in 1963 chalked up the academy's first undefeated, untied season. It was also this year that the Academy participated in its first bowl game, the Tangerine Bowl, on December 28, 1963 in Orlando, Florida. His seven year coaching record at the Academy was 32-23-1.

In his first year of professional coaching, 1966, as head coach of the Redskins, Graham compiled a 7-7-0 record, the best Redskin record in 10 years.

THE SCORE CARD

Graham was selected on an All-America Conference Team of some description (either United Press International, or Associated Press) in each of the four years of competition in the All-America Conference. He was named to an All-Pro team in 1951, '52, '54 and '55 while in the N.F.L.

RECORDS HELD BY GRAHAM:

Most passes completed—622 (includes 70 completions in one playoff and four championship games.)

Most passes completed in one game—27 (against Buffalo, Sept. 5, 1949. This record was tied by Glenn Dobbs of Los Angeles against San Francisco on Dec. 5, 1948.)

Most yards gained on passes—10,085.

Fewest passes had intercepted—(600 or more attempts in four years)—41.

Most yards gained on passes in one season—2,885 (1949), 12 games.

Longest pass completed—99 yards (to Mac Speedie vs. Buffalo on Nov. 2, 1947.)

Most touchdown passes in one game—6 (against Los Angeles Dons on Oct. 14, 1949.)

Best passing efficiency (500 or more attempts)—55.8 (592 completions in 1,061 attempts.)

Best passing efficiency in one season—64.7 (163 completions in 269 attempts in 1953.)

Graham does not hold a single National Football League record. The reason, of course, is the NFL doesn't recognize the statistics compiled over his four years in the All-America Conference. His passes gained more yards in 10 years, however, than Sammy Baugh did in 16 years.

The AP made a special kicking position to honor the record breaking accomplishments of Gogolak. Gogolak, who can kick accurately from short and long range, set seven NCAA records at Princeton. They include: 50 consecutive extra points, 33 his senior year and 17 held over from his junior year; six field goals in one game, versus Rutgers in 1965; most field goals in one season, 16; most field goals for a career, 27; most points kicking one season, 81; most points kicking for a career, 164; and most points kicking one game, 20. The soccer-style place-kicker kicked a 54-yarder against Cornell in 1965 against a human pyramid, a defense set up by Cornell coach Tom Harp. This was Gogolak's longest field goal. Against Rutgers, the six he kicked were for 52, 39, 27, 41, 37, and 27 yards. The record 50 consecutive extra points broke the old NCAA mark of 44 set by his brother Pete while Pete was the star place-kicker for Cornell. Where Mustang is King of the Road

Rakish good looks and exciting performance made the original Mustang the most successful, most imitated car ever. This year, we've improved on the original.

Our '67 Mustang is longer, wider, more exciting than ever, loaded with "Better Idea" options: SelectShift manual/automatic transmission, Tilt-Away steering, stereo. And Mustang is still America's lowest-priced bucket-seat sports car. Still King of the Road.
