The Air Teams of Amoco

THE GREATEST NETWORK of all time continues its record-breaking run. It's the AMOCO-Redskins football network. This is the 18th consecutive year that The American Oil Co., maker of AMOCO products, is bringing the Redskins games into your home over vast television and radio (both AM and FM) networks.

No other sports broadcast can claim such continuity of performance.

Once again the AMOCO mike teams are:

TELEVISION—Jim Gibbons (play-by-play) and Eddie Gallaher (sidelights);

RADIO—Dan Daniels (play-by-play) and Arch McDonald (sidelights).

Gibbons has been part of this show for 17 of its 18 years. He has been featured on many coast-to-coast sportcasts.

Gallaher is a veteran of University of Oklahoma and University of Minnesota broadcasts. He, too, has been featured on many coast-to-coast broadcasts. He is the busiest radio-television personality in the Nation's Capital.

Daniels is a veteran of Southern Association, Southeastern Conference and South Atlantic Conference broadcasting.

McDonald is a dean of the nation's sportscasters. He has been announcer for the Senators, Giants and Yankees in baseball, and for the University of Maryland in football. He is a three-time winner of The Sporting News' National Broadcasting Award.

Big 3d quarter enables Ralph Guglielmi to have best day of brief pro career. Forced to settle for three Sam Baker FGs (25, 47, 48) in 1st half, Guglielmi finds range after intermission and completes 4 of 8 passes for 149 yds and 2 TDs. Bill Anderson scores one on 70-yd play; Joe Walton gets other on 27-yd. Crowd: 26,570.

One word tells story of defeat: Fumbles. Redskins fumble away ball first two times they have it and Steelers get two quick TDs. Linebacker George Tarasovic recovers both—returning first for 51 yds and score. Redskins wind up with total of seven fumbles, losing ball four times. Redskins passing game collapses—only 3 of 16 for 23 yds. Crowd: 29,218.

"Daddy put his foot down!"

"Last week, I had the car filled with a different gas—and what a lecture I got! Daddy never uses anything but Amoco-Gas, because it's the gas that has no lead in it. He says that lead in gas fouls up the engine...but that unleaded Amoco-Gas keeps engine parts clean and trouble-free. I'm convinced!
